Commemorative coin in honor of the Bicentennial of the sacrifice of the national heroine Policarpa Salavarrieta (sold out) Tuesday, 10 January 2023 - 12:00

Banco de la República, in compliance with Law 1903 of 22 June 2018, makes available to the public, for commemorative purposes, the coin of the Bicentennial of the sacrifice of the national heroine Policarpa Salavarrieta. The coin will be available to the public as of 10 January 2023.

The coin´s obverse o shows the image of Policarpa Salavarrieta, based on an 1855 portrait by painter José María Espinosa. Known as "La Pola," she is the most famous heroine of Colombia's Independence. She was born around 1795 and was shot in Bogotáa on 14 November 1817 for conspiring and spying in favor of the patriots of the plains of Casanare at the height of the Spanish reconquest. It also includes the legend "POLICARPA SALAVARRIETA" and "200 YEARS OF THE SACRIFICE OF THE HEROINE".

The coin's reverse shows the house where Policarpa Salavarrieta lived in Guaduas, Cundinamarca. It is located a little more than a block from the main park, and its one-story construction, with adobe walls and a palm roof, is testimony to the daily life of a family of medium wealth in its time.

The reverse is inscribed with the following elements: i) the year of minting authorization, 2019; ii) a latent image as a security element that, depending on the angle from which it is viewed, will reflect the initials "BR" or the
